Welcome

As one of the most important decisions you will make for your property, choosing the right windows, doors or range of glazed extensions is likely to take both time and lots of research.

Having been established since 1990, the Sherborne team welcomes you and we are pleased to share our wealth of knowledge on a variety of products.

Throughout the following pages you will see some of our wide range of products we offer along with information about the service we provide. At our showrooms you will be able to see, touch and feel all the products we offer.

Our aim is to ensure that you are able to make an informed decision about the products that suit you and your home in the best possible way. Our dedicated team of staff will be on hand to assist you in that decision making process.

We hope you find the information in our brochure helpful, and we look forward to working with you to achieve perfection for your home.

A message from our Founder

Thank you for your interest in Sherborne. As we proceed into our fourth decade of trading, I am incredibly proud of everything that my fantastic team of staff has achieved over the years.

It seems a long, long time ago when I was honing my skills as an Installer.

I decided in the early 1990's to build a company which would always try to look after and be fair to everyone our business had dealings with, whether they were clients, staff or suppliers.

Looking back, I truly believe that making that commitment has stood Sherborne in good stead and is the bedrock of all that we have achieved. There is no question that I have been extremely fortunate to have such a great team of people working with and supporting me along with my wife Claire and my brothers Andy and Tim.

Beyond my immediate family I like to think that all of the Sherborne team are like an extended family. Some of our staff started with us over 25 years ago and have worked their way through the business to Director positions. It fills me with great pride to see staff grow into brilliant team players. It is that ethos of helping staff develop that means we have been able to maintain the high levels of client satisfaction that I set out to achieve.

I will continue to focus on promoting the same values that have endured for so long, looking after people, being fair and offering a great service along with offering first class and innovative products. This is what Sherborne is all about, and that mantra is at the core of our business and why we continue to succeed through challenging times.

I hope you enjoy your experience with Sherborne and once again thank you for contacting us.

We will work safely and ensure we keep all areas clean. Above all, it means keeping to the standards of practice and client care that our reputation has been built upon over the last 4 decades.

Project Management.

Our Operations Director and his superb team oversee all Sherborne projects. They will ensure all work is carried out to the highest possible standard.

All our projects are professionally surveyed and information is made available to our installation department after you have agreed your requirements with our sales team.

On completion of work we will make sure that your home is left clean and tidy, every product that we have installed will be thoroughly cleaned and we will demonstrate how to use and look after them, we will ensure you are happy and that your requirements and expectations have been met.

Documents including guarantees, certification and product care guides will be sent to you electronically upon completion of your project.

A very slick and professional experience from start to finish. Plenty of choice In Showroom together with helpful advice and explanations. Series of detailed emails explaining procedure and stages of progress plus invoicing and payments to make. The new door is of high quality, delivered when expected and fitted by a courteous and professional team. We will definitely use Sherborne again in the future.” - Susan

From the first telephone call we had great service. It was great to have someone come to the house and go through all the options. Once that was done we made our decision on what we wanted we went to the showroom and confirmed the details. Next someone came to the house and took all the measurements and confirmed what we wanted. The fitters arrived and put everything in place and fitted the door and surround then gave everything a good clean. The office staff were also very helpful. Thank you.” - Mr & Mrs Bowsher

“★★★★★
This company was a pleasure to deal with. Everything was dealt with promptly and efficiently. The men who installed the windows were polite and tidy. They even managed to save 3 of the old windows for me, with only minor damage. I'm delighted with the result and have received several compliments on how smart the house now looks. Highly recommended.” - Mrs Headley

Windows by Sherborne

When it comes to choosing the most suitable windows for your property, there are many things to consider. We understand that being able to see different product styles and materials in person can help when making that decision.

At our Showrooms we have on display a wide range of windows and will be happy to discuss the features and benefits of each. Every window offers excellent levels of security and weathering properties to keep your home safe and warm.

Flush Casement Windows

Flush windows are a popular choice for many homeowners and closely replicate a traditional timber window in appearance. The window sashes sit flush with the outer frame, resulting in a contemporary window, making it perfect for replacing existing timber windows.

Thanks to their traditional appearance, flush casement windows are often used in period or heritage homes. However, this window style also makes a perfect addition to modern homes with its classic and understated appearance that adds minimalist style.

We offer flush windows in a choice of Timber, Aluminium or uPVC, in a wide range of colour options. Every window has multi-point locking and you can choose from a selection of handle designs and finishes to create your perfect window.

Stormproof Casement Windows

Stormproof casement windows have been installed in homes throughout the UK for many years, where the opening sash features a 'lip' which stands proud of the frame, creating a picture frame effect.

This style of window was traditionally considered to provide better weather protection in areas of harsh wind and rain, which is where the name Stormproof will have derived from. These days, every window we install offers the same excellent weatherproofing to keep your home warm and dry, so you can decide which window you prefer by considering which design is the most suitable for your home.

17th Century Listed Granary

When James moved into the 17th Century Grade II Listed building in Wokingham in 2017, one of the home improvements he was planning to carry out was to replace the existing timber windows. The windows were single glazed and were draughty and having been in-situ for a long time without regular maintenance, they were rotten, letting in the wind and rain. The window on the landing was particularly in need of repair and let pools of water in, causing some flooding indoors.

The beautiful home, part of a farm estate featuring the original house, dairy and barn, was a former granary. James approached the local planning officers for approval to fit new timber windows. At first his request was turned down as local planning argued that, as it was a Listed building, the windows could not be changed.

James visited his local Timber Windows showroom in Hartley Wintney, run by Sherborne Windows, and discussed his dilemma. James said "The Sales and Design Consultants at the showroom were supportive. We spoke at length several times and they were able to guide me in terms of completing each of the steps required when consulting with the planning department.

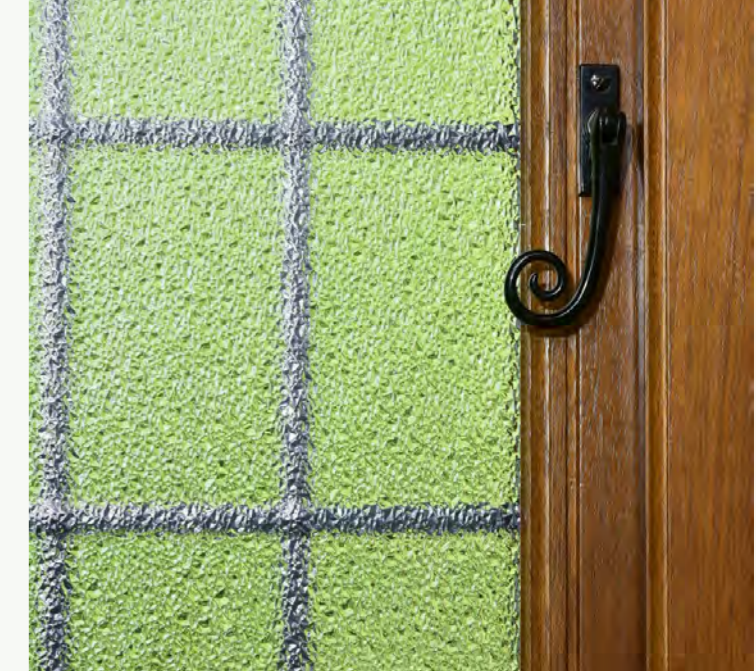

James continued, The local planning department originally said that the windows couldn't be changed as it was a listed building, but it was successful in the end on the basis that the granary would have never had windows to start with, so should not be affected by planning conditions".

Once approval had been given, Sherborne Windows carried out a full survey and were able to recommend a timber window design which was both authentic and sympathetic to the style of the building. Rather than painting the windows, they were stained to bring out the natural grain in the wood. Leaded glass and traditional black monkey tail furniture was chosen to complement the character of the house. The windows in the house itself were installed in two phases, with the outbuilding to follow in phase three.

James said "Since having new windows installed, we have noticed that we are able to control the temperature in the house in the Winter and can open the windows in the Summer to keep us cool. We no longer have any draughts coming in through the windows. We used to ask the window cleaner not to clean a number of the windows in our home as this caused water to leak in. Now though, we can clean all of the windows without having to worry about any water leaking in!"

Sash Windows

Our sash windows combine 21st-century technology with classic styling. Available in high-performance uPVC or timber, their vertically-sliding sashes allow for convenient ventilation of the home.

Timber sliding sash windows are often seen in Victorian or Edwardian properties, evoking feelings of nostalgia with their unique charm. As well as being full of character, sliding sash windows are considered to offer excellent ventilation properties. When both the top and bottom sashes are opened, the air is drawn up and escapes through the top sash, whilst fresh air is drawn in through the bottom sash, resulting in a constant flow of air.

We install modern sliding sash windows made from a choice of timber or uPVC. The windows offer excellent thermal properties and high levels of security, combined with classic styling.

Sash Windows

Sliding sash windows look fabulous in Victorian and Edwardian properties and they are often chosen for new-build properties to introduce a sense of character and charm. Designs can include decorative vertical or horizontal Georgian bars.

We offer a wide range of contemporary and traditional colours along with a choice of stylish fasteners, sash lifts and opening restrictors to complement the interior décor of your property.

Tilt and Turn Windows

Tilt and turn windows operate in two ways. The tilt facility allows the window to tilt inwards. This provides high levels of ventilation by allowing the air to enter through a small opening at the top of the window. To open the window fully, the handle can be turned through 90°, making cleaning the outside of the windows easy to do, from inside the home.

Tilt turn windows are ideal for the first floor of a property, or for those living in high-rise buildings as they offer high levels of security whilst open in the tilt position.

Bay Windows

Bay windows are an arrangement of windows that sit together in either a square or polygonal shape. Protruding from the main wall of a property, they are an excellent way to flood homes with natural daylight. Our bay windows can be constructed from uPVC, timber or aluminium to complement the character of any home.

Bay windows usually have a large window at the front, with a smaller window at either side, forming an angular window with three flat sides. Bay windows originated in the 15th century and are still very popular now, adding character to the outside of a property.

We install bay windows in either uPVC, timber or aluminium, in a wide range of colours, to complement or contrast with the existing doors and windows in a home.

Bay Windows

There are many benefits to installing or replacing a bay window. From the outside, a bay window adds a certain charm and curb appeal. Having glass on three sides allows plenty of sunlight and natural daylight to flood a room from all angles, often making a room feel warmer, brighter and more spacious.

Some homeowners design a bespoke seating area or storage area within the bay to make the most of the additional space.

Doors by Sherborne

When it comes to choosing the right door for your home, there are plenty of things to consider. Having carried out extensive research into the wide range of doors available, we offer a selection which we believe will complement many styles of home, with every door offering excellent security, a huge choice of colours and designs. Every door is made bespoke for your property.

Front Doors

Replacing your front door is a great way to make your home feel more inviting. When opting for one of our front doors, you can also ensure that it'll be more comfortable and secure than before.

Choosing a new front door for your home allows you the opportunity to introduce your personality to your home. We have many designs to choose from, all of which are available in a large range of colours. Each of our front door designs can incorporate clear, obscured or decorative glass. If you would prefer complete privacy in your hallway, you could choose a style without glass and include a glazed top light above your door or an obscured side panel to either the left or the right of your door.

A front door is often the first thing people see when visiting your home, it is your chance to create a fabulous curb appeal and create a good first impression.

Front Doors

We have an extensive collection of front doors made from either Timber, Aluminium, Composite or uPVC. Whilst timber front doors do require more regular maintenance than other materials, our doors are coated to protect them from extreme weather conditions, ensuring they continue to perform well for many years.

Each of our front doors are available in a wide range of contemporary and traditional designs and are fitted with secure multi-point locks. Some designs meet the Police Preferred Specification and are 'Secured by Design' approved.

Back Doors

Available in four different materials and a range of styles to suit modern and traditional properties alike, our selection of back doors bring plenty of style, security and warmth to every home.

With many homeowners taking great pride in their back gardens, we believe it is important to offer a wide choice of designs for your back door. You can include a wide range of decorative glass and furniture options.

Every back door is available in a huge range of colours and will have the same levels of high security locking mechanisms as our front doors.

Sliding Doors

Sliding Doors are the perfect solution for creating a feeling of light and space in your home. The door sashes glide smoothly within their own tracks creating an almost seamless transition between your home and garden.

You can choose from uPVC, Timber or Aluminium in a wide range of colours, with the option of having one colour on the inside and a different colour on the outside.

Cortizo Sliding Doors

If you are looking for Sliding Doors with an extremely slim interlock sightline, Cortizo Sliding Doors are ideal.

With the option of a 20mm slim aluminium mullion, the sliding doors create a minimalist aesthetic, whilst still meeting excellent levels of security and weather performance.

Cortizo Sliding Doors can be made up to 4 metres high, with each individual door sash available in sizes up to 4 metres wide.

Along with Galandage (pocket) doors, floating (open) corners and truly flush and weather tight thresholds the possibilities are endless with these amazing products.

French Doors

French doors have been a popular design for many years and are suitable for traditional and contemporary homes. You can choose which of the doors is your main traffic door and whether you would like it to open to the left or the right.

Most of the French doors we install open outwards into the garden, allowing in plenty of natural daylight. Doors can open inwards on occasions such as when creating a Juliet balcony on the first floor of a home.

Bifold Doors

Having bifold doors in your home will allow plenty of light into your room all year round.

When the weather permits, you have the opportunity of folding the door panels, to achieve an almost seamless connection between your home and garden.

Depending on the width of your aperture, you have the flexibility to decide how many bifold door panels you would like, you can also choose which door you would prefer to open independently, so that you can conveniently gain access to your garden.

Cortizo Bifold Doors

Cortizo Bifold Doors have a modern, slim sightline.

If you have high ceilings in your home and would like to enjoy uninterrupted views of your garden and beyond, Cortizo Bifold Doors are ideal, with door sashes available up to three metres high to allow plenty of natural daylight into your home. They can also be designed to include a 90° floating (open) corner, to take in the scene from two sides of your home.

The doors are incredibly secure and have excellent thermal insulation to keep your home warm. You have the option of deciding how many bifold door panels you would like and which direction you would like them to open.

Bifold Doors, Eversley

Once the architect plans had been finalised and planning permission granted, Mrs Norris started to look for a company who she could trust to supply and install the new doors and windows in her soon to be refurbished, 1970's home in Eversley.

Mrs Norris had heard from friends and neighbours, that Sherborne Windows had an excellent reputation locally, so she contacted the showroom in Farnborough and arranged for Tim Long to call at her home.

Mrs Norris commented: "Friends of ours recently had new windows fitted by Sherborne Windows and they were really happy with their professionalism. It is always helpful to receive recommendations.

She continued "When Tim Long called at our home, he brought along samples and colour swatches for us to look through and then he took some measurements of where the bifold doors were going to be installed."

At the rear of the property, there is now a fabulous swimming pool and paved terrace area which are accessed from rooms on the ground floor. Mrs Norris chose to have Aluminium Bifold Doors installed in each of the rooms, with a low threshold to allow ease of access between the home and patio.

The kitchen features a seven pane Bifold Door. All sashes slide in one direction when open, resulting in a fabulous seven metre opening. Even when the bifold doors are closed, the wide expanse of glazing allows plenty of natural light to flood the room.

There are five sets of Bifold Doors in total, each with an odd number of doors, providing symmetry when closed and a seamless transition from the house to the patio and swimming pool when open. Choosing Bifold Doors with an odd number of door sashes ensures that there is one master door with a Lever handle which can be opened without having to slide open every one of the bifold door sashes. Another benefit of having an odd number of door sashes is that when opened, all the sashes slide open in one direction and stack neatly to one side.

The windows on the first floor play a significant role in the overall design of the home and are all of a similar size, with two panes of glass. They perfectly complement the Velux windows positioned in the roof which feature vertical aluminium bars running down the centre. The entire property has been designed and built with the finest attention to detail.

Tim Long said: "After speaking with Mrs Norris, we reviewed the Architect Drawings and recommended Custommade Aluminium Bifold Doors and Windows. Custommade products are strong, secure and offer excellent thermal properties. Aluminium is a durable material which requires little maintenance to keep it looking good and performing well. All it will need is a wipe with a warm soapy cloth from time to time. The paint finish is powder-coated to provide a durable finish which will ensure the aluminium colour doesn't fade in the sunlight."

Mrs Norris said: "The Sherborne Windows installation team always arrived on time, and nothing was ever too much trouble. The After Sales Service has also been exceptional. I would definitely recommend Sherborne Windows."

Steel Look Doors and Windows

Historically, steel doors and windows were single glazed and were often draughty. Our modern Steel Look doors and windows are fitted with thermally efficient double glazing and are made from strong, lightweight aluminium.

They are available in a wide range of powder coated paint finishes, with the option of having a different colour on the inside and outside, to perfectly complement the décor in your home. You can choose to include horizontal or vertical bars to create bold, streamlined designs.

Steel Look windows can create a full wall of glass and can include a single door or a set of double doors for ease of access between your home and garden.

Steel Look

Mr Waite, the homeowner of a beautiful period property in Surrey, contacted Sherborne Windows to discuss the design and build of a bespoke, contemporary aluminium Orangery to the rear of his property.

Several conversations took place between the Architects, Mr Waite and Sherborne, from the initial design and specification stages. With such a beautiful period property with wooden sash windows and traditional period features, it was important that the build was sympathetic to the design of the original building.

Chris Long, Founder at Sherborne, said "We looked at various product solutions together and we focussed on a Steel Look solution."

One of the advantages of Steel-Look doors and windows, is their ability to seamlessly blend with the architecture of a period property. The slim, sleek lines can evoke the industrial charm of early 20th-century elegant French doors found in Georgian or Victorian homes. These doors create a visually appealing contrast between old and new, drawing attention to the property's unique features while maintaining its historical authenticity.

Once the proposal was agreed upon, Sherborne assisted in submitting a successful planning application. A key consideration was ensuring the Orangery was securely integrated with the existing building while offering a smooth connection to the beautiful gardens beyond. To achieve this, a steel frame was bolted into the new foundation, providing the necessary strength and stability, while a timber sub-frame was used to create openings for the windows, doors, and the glazed Lantern.

Chris said "The Steel Look Orangery was a completely bespoke design. It includes a set of Bifolding doors which offer a seamless connection between the living area and garden, and a half-height Bifolding window, which creates a cosy, yet modern feel. Above the doors, we installed fixed glazing, with vertical bars which align precisely with the doors and windows below."

To seamlessly merge the old with the new and connect the existing home to the new Orangery, the original doors leading into the garden were replaced with a stunning pair of Steel Look French doors. This design allows an abundance of natural light to flow into the home through the glazing in the new Orangery. A glazed Lantern Roof enhances the overall design, further boosting the flow of natural light into the room.

Consideration was given to the finer points around the way the glazing products were installed, complemented by a specialised, colour-matched, black aluminium cladding. Sherborne worked closely with the architects to achieve the desired effect, while incorporating highly energy-efficient glazing solutions, ensuring the new room would be usable throughout the year.

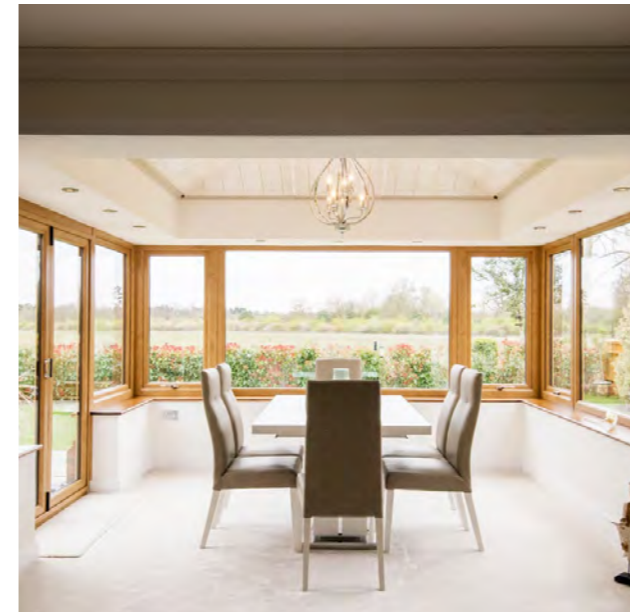

Mr Waite said "I had the pleasure of working with the Sherborne Team on a highly intricate and complex project, and I am absolutely thrilled with the results. This project truly tested the team's expertise and adaptability. Despite the challenges, Sherborne consistently demonstrated professionalism and an unwavering commitment to excellence."

Glazed Extensions by Sherborne

A glass extension with floor-to-ceiling glazing and bifolding or sliding doors make a fabulous addition to any home. With such large expanses of glass, you can relax and admire your garden or patio from the comfort of your home in all weathers, without the need to step outside.

On warmer days, simply slide your doors open and enjoy how your glazed extension brings a certain glamour to your home.

Conservatories

Conservatories have been popular in homes throughout the UK for many years, creating an extra room within a property which is filled with natural daylight and connects the home and garden.

Modern conservatories with high performance energy efficient glass, ensure that conservatories remain at a comfortable temperature to enjoy all year round. They are available in all shapes and sizes in a wide range of colours, to suit all types of property.

Orangeries

Arguably the most elegant type of home extension, orangeries add a wow factor to any home. Orangeries are often square or rectangular in shape with a bespoke lantern roof which both increases the height of the room and lets in plenty of daylight.

Roof Lights

Roof Lights are often installed in a single storey extension, where there is a flat roof or a roof with a gentle slope. Flat roof lights are contemporary and discreet and they allow plenty of natural light into a room from above. They are often installed directly above a kitchen, dining or seating area.

You can choose from a range of different glazing options, including Solar Glass or glass with a blue or bronze tint. Each option offers excellent thermal efficiency.

Modernise my Conservatory

We can improve the aesthetics of an old and tired looking conservatory by removing the existing roof and replacing it with a new attractive, energy efficient solid or glazed roof, complete with improved insulation to help retain heat in the winter & to avoid the room over heating in the summer.

If your preference is a solid roof we offer a choice of tile colours to complement or contrast with your home, we can also upgrade the windows and doors to work with the existing windows and doors in your home.

The new roof can also include improved glazing solutions which helps keep buildings at a comfortable temperature to use all year round. We can discuss the many different glass options, with features such as self-cleaning or solar controlled glass for South-facing conservatories.

If you would like to see how your existing conservatory could look with a new roof, please visit modernisemyconservatory.co.uk.

Simply submit photos of your existing conservatory and "Challenge Us" to suggest what improvements could be made. We will also give you a guide price as to the potential costs involved.

Planning permission for new windows and doors

Mr and Mrs Potter live in a beautiful period brick-built property in Hartley Wintney. As the property is of historical significance, planning permission is needed before any home improvements can be made.

The existing wooden windows are all single glazed. On the ground floor the windows have Georgian bars with chamfered detailing.

Mr and Mrs Potter decided they were ready to replace the existing wooden front door and single glazed wooden windows in their home with modern, thermally efficient double-glazed windows and doors.

They called into the Timber Windows Showroom in their local village of Hartley Wintney to look at the range of timber doors and windows on display and were impressed with the quality and high security features and felt they would be perfect for their home.

Do I need planning permission to replace my windows in a conservation area?

When a property is of historical significance, is a listed building or is in a conservation area, planning permission is needed before repairing or replacing windows. The local planning authority will give consideration to the style of the original window frames and shape and size of any Georgian bars and will require the replacement windows to closely replicate the originals.

Who can help with my planning application for new windows?

Based in the village of Hartley Wintney, the team at Timber Windows is familiar with applying for planning permission for replacement wooden windows and doors, having helped guide many customers through every stage of the process until completion. They are happy to complete all necessary paperwork and liaise with the local planning authority.

On this occasion, after two years of negotiation, the quality and aesthetics of the windows and doors were considered worthy by the Council and planning permission was granted.

Chris Long, Managing Director at Timber Windows said "Many of our customers live in Listed Buildings, so we are familiar with the process of obtaining Planning Permission to replace the windows in their homes. We are always happy to help complete the paperwork and follow the planning process through to the end. We are delighted that planning permission was granted and that we have been able to carry out home improvements and install the new windows and doors to the specification originally chosen by Mr and Mrs Potter."

Mrs Potter said "We are happy to have pursued the process of obtaining planning permission, despite the difficulty. The local planning department were very impressed with the quality and aesthetics of the new windows. Our new windows are amazing."

Planning Permission in Conservation Areas

Every local authority in England has at least one conservation area defined as having 'special architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance'.

Over the past 30 years, having installed replacement doors and windows in homes throughout Surrey, Berkshire and Hampshire, we are aware that there are many properties located in conservation areas.

Before carrying out any significant work to your home, we would advise that you check with your local planning authority whether you will need listed building consent.

We are happy to help you with this process and can put you in touch with local experts who can advise on the most up-to-date building regulations. We will be more than happy to help you complete the necessary paperwork and we will continue to remind you when deadlines are nearing and prompt you where necessary along the way.
